This week's spelling test is just for fun. It will not be graded! These are still important words for your child to learn to spell correctly. Enjoy practicing this list of Christmas words with your child.

NOTE FROM THE TEACHER:

Dear Parents,

I can't believe this school year is halfway over. Time is flying by so quickly. I know it is for me because I enjoy every day that I spend teaching your children. This is a very special group of students. I feel blessed to be their teacher. Thank you for sharing your child with me.

My prayer for you and your family is that you enjoy celebrating the true meaning of Christmas and that each student returns healthy and safe after our vacation. God bless you in the coming New Year. Please keep reading and reviewing math facts over the break so your child's skills won't get rusty! ☺

We will be having our Christmas spelling test tomorrow. Be sure to do the spelling practice test with your child tonight and see the note under spelling in this newsletter.

We will also be having a small Christmas party in our classroom tomorrow afternoon. A Morningside parent will be treating the students to a Christmas Zumba lesson! Then the children will have some treats and play a few games in our classroom. If you have something your child would like to bring in for their friends, tomorrow would be the best day to do that.

Remember that on early release days, the children will be waiting at dismissal at 11:40. There will be no aftercare on Friday. If you've read this entire newsletter, please put a candy cane next to your signature in the assignment book.

Merry Christmas,
Mrs. Gagne
